On March 31 Oconee River SWCD Supervisor Robert McLocklin and GSWCC Region II Employees Jennifer Standridge & Stuart Suttle participated in the Annual Ag Day at Statham Elementary School in Barrow County. The station was set up with a 2 week old lamb which they used to teach students about small farm animals. Students learned about wool and clothing products as well as dairy products that come from sheep. Approximately 800 students stopped by the station. The District also presented the school library with two books about sheep and farm animals.
